

-17-

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An inductor device includes first and second spiral conductors. First and second external connection terminals are formed in inner peripheral ends of the first and second spiral conductors, respectively. A third conductor connects an outer peripheral end of the first spiral conductor and that of the second spiral conductor to each other.

5